Employee Leave and Attendance Policy

Organization: Meridian Technologies

Document ID: HR-001

Version: 1.1

Department: Human Resources

Teams: Employee Relations, Payroll

Effective Date: January 1, 2026

Last Updated: October 15, 2026

1. Purpose

This policy defines employee leave entitlements, attendance requirements, leave approval procedures and payroll coordination at Meridian Technologies.

The Human Resources department maintains employee leave records and ensures consistent application of attendance policies across the organization.

2. Leave Entitlements

Employees are eligible for the following annual leave categories:

Leave Type	Annual Entitlement
Annual Leave	20 days
Sick Leave	10 days
Casual Leave	7 days
Parental Leave	Subject to eligibility

Annual entitlements are calculated from January 1 to December 31.

Annual leave should normally be requested five working days in advance. Casual leave should preferably be requested one working day in advance.

For sick leave exceeding two consecutive working days, HR may request supporting medical documentation.

3. Leave Application Procedure

Employees must submit leave applications through the internal employee portal.

Each application must contain:

- Employee ID and name.
- Leave category.
- Start and end dates.
- Number of requested working days.
- Reason for leave.
- Supporting documents, where applicable.

The approval process consists of three stages:

1. Employee submits the application.
2. Reporting manager reviews operational requirements and approves or rejects the request.
3. HR verifies leave eligibility and updates the official records.

A manager's approval alone does not constitute final approval. HR processing must also be completed.

4. Attendance Management

Employees must record attendance through the organization's attendance management system.

Employees unable to attend work must notify their reporting manager as soon as reasonably possible.

Repeated unauthorized absences may result in formal warnings and disciplinary review by the Employee Relations team.

Employees identifying incorrect attendance records must submit a correction request to HR with supporting evidence.

5. Payroll Coordination

The Payroll team uses finalized leave records when calculating monthly salaries.

Approved paid leave does not ordinarily result in salary deductions. Approved unpaid leave is considered during monthly payroll calculations.

HR must ensure that finalized leave information is communicated to Payroll before the monthly payroll closing date.

6. Exceptions

Emergency leave may be reported retrospectively when advance application is not reasonably possible.

Extended absences require additional review by HR and the reporting manager.

Medical documentation must be treated as confidential employee information.

7. Confidentiality

Individual leave histories, medical records, salary details and disciplinary information are confidential.

Payroll employees may access information required for salary processing but must not receive unrestricted access to unrelated disciplinary records.

Platform administrators do not automatically receive access to confidential HR records.

8. Responsibilities

Role	Responsibility
Employee	Submit leave requests and report absences
Reporting Manager	Review applications

HR	Maintain leave records
Employee Relations	Review attendance violations
Payroll	Process applicable salary deductions
